

Emilio A. Claudio

October 15, 1949 - September 13, 2021

Emilio Abello Claudio, or Leo, was born in Manila, Philippines on October 15, 1949. At the age of 17, he enlisted into the US Navy and became a United States citizen. When he left the Philippines, he studied culinary arts, leadership, and firefighting. Emilio traveled to many countries because he was assigned to different ships and bases during his naval career. His last ship was the USS California which was based in Alameda, CA.

He lived in service to others, especially to his family and his country. After being in the US Navy for 21 years, Emilio proudly retired in June 1989 as a Petty Officer 1st Class. He settled down in Vallejo, CA where he established a home filled with loving and lasting memories with his wife, Myrna and his children, Jennifer, Francis, Gregory and Monica.

Emilio was a creative. He was an artist and a musician—often times he was heard playing his favorite oldies on his acoustic guitar. He was also a DIY-king; whenever something broke in the house, he would find a way to fix it and sometimes make it better. In fact, he even fixed cars and built computers for himself and others. He also kept himself active with being an avid bowler and a table-tennis player. Most will remember him for his incredible cooking, especially his signature fried chicken wings.

Emilio was always a strong individual, and now he is resting at the age of 71.

His bright smile, joyful presence and silly dad jokes will always be missed and remembered.

“ I didn't know Jen's father personally, but he molded her into who she is now. That is evident of his love and greatness. My condolences to the family.
